George Bradley

DEDICATION

The Chicago White Sox dedicate the 2002 Media Guide to the memory of George Bradley, a special assistant to general manager Ken Williams who passed away unexpectedly on September 14, 2001 in Tampa, Fla. Bradley, 58, was hired by the White Sox in 1991 and held a variety of positions in his 10 years with the organization. Through his scouting and recommendations, he was responsible for acquisitions of several current White Sox players. The longtime baseball executive also worked for Oakland (1968-71), Philadelphia (1972-80), Detroit (1981-85), California/Anaheim (1986-88) and the Yankees (1988-91). In honor of Bradley, the White Sox established the "George Bradley Scout Of The Year Award," presented in 2001 to John Tumminia.

OFFICERS

JERRY REINSDORF
Chairman

Jerry Reinsdorf begins his 22nd season as chairman of the Chicago White Sox, the second-longest ownership tenure in franchise history behind Charles Comiskey (1901-31) and the fourth-longest among current Major League Baseball owners. During Reinsdorf's 21 seasons as chairman of the White Sox, the club has captured American League division championships three times, including an AL Central title in 2000. The Sox also won division titles in 1983 and 1993 and were in first place in 1994 at the conclusion of the strike-shortened season.

Since heading the limited partnership that purchased the White Sox in January 1981, Reinsdorf has remained active in the affairs of baseball. He currently is serving a fourth four-year term on Major League Baseball's prestigious Executive Council. Reinsdorf also served a four-year term as chairman of baseball's Ownership Committee and was a member of the board of directors of the Player Relations Committee, Inc. for seven years. He is co-chairman of the Equal Opportunity Committee and remains a member of the Legislative, Labor Policy and Realignment committees. He was a member of the American League Presidential Search Committee, which named Gene Budig in June 1994, the Expansion Committee, which designated the last two expansion teams, and the Strategic Planning Committee. Reinsdorf is a member of the board of MLB Advanced Media, L.P., the interactive media company of Major League Baseball, responsible for creating and maintaining the Web sites of each club and MLB.com.

During his career in professional sports, Reinsdorf, who also is chairman of the Chicago Bulls, has been responsible for the construction of two new sports facilities in Chicago, Comiskey Park (1991) and the United Center (1994).

Reinsdorf expanded his involvement in professional sports in March 1985 by purchasing controlling interest in the Chicago Bulls. During his tenure as chairman of the Bulls, the team has captured six World Championships for Chicago (1991-93, '96-98). In addition to initiating the building of new Comiskey Park, Reinsdorf spearheaded construction of two major facilities for the Bulls. The United Center, home for the Bulls and Chicago Blackhawks, opened for the 1994-95 season, and the Bulls began using the Sheri L. Berto Center, their state-of-the-art training facility, in 1992.

Both of Reinsdorf's sports franchises are active contributors to the Chicago community through a variety of efforts, including Chicago White Sox Charities and CharitaBulls. He has played a critical role in the development of the west side area surrounding the United Center and is responsible for introducing an innovative reading program to the Chicago Public Schools system. This program, supported by Chicago White Sox Charities, has improved reading levels for many inner city school children by as many as two grades. Through the new Chicago Bulls/Chicago White Sox Training Academy, which opened in 2001, and outreach efforts such as White Sox Training Centers and Chicago Bulls Basketball Schools, Reinsdorf's franchises promote sports to youth while instilling a love of the game in future fans.

Reinsdorf was the 1997 recipient of the Order of Lincoln Award, and his many contributions to the community have been recognized by such organizations as the Interfaith Organizing Project, the American Academy of Achievement, the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, the Trial Lawyers Club of Chicago, the Chicago Jewish Sporting Hall of Fame, the National Jewish Sporting Hall of Fame and the Chicago Sports Hall of Fame. In addition, he is the recipient of the Chicago Park District's 1990 Chicagoan of the Year Award, the 1992 PUSH Bridgebuilder Award, the National Italian-American Friendship Award, Northwestern University's Award of Merit and the U.S. Air Force American Spirit Award. Reinsdorf was awarded the Ellis Island Medal of Honor in 1993 and the 1997 Mayor's Medal of Honor.

In 1998, he was honored with the Guardian of Children Award from the Jewish Council for Youth Services. As chairman of the Chicago White Sox, he was instrumental in initiating Chicago White Sox Charities, the arm of the baseball organization that raises funds for cancer research, children's and senior programs. Chicago Baseball Cancer Charities has twice conferred its Hallmark Award to Reinsdorf in recognition of his efforts.

In addition to his sports interests, Reinsdorf is an attorney, a certified public accountant, a specialist in real estate securities, a registered mortgage underwriter and a certified review appraiser. In December 1987, Reinsdorf completed employment as chairman of the board of a real estate investment firm he co-founded in the early 1970s and sold to American Express. Currently, he is a partner in Bojer Financial, Ltd., a land investment company. He is a former member of the board of directors of Shearson Lehman Brothers, Inc. and the Northwestern University Law School Alumni Association and is presently a trustee of Northwestern University. He is a director of LaSalle National Bank, is on the board of Equity Office Properties and has served on the boards of numerous other corporations and charities.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y. on February 25, 1936, Reinsdorf graduated from George Washington University in Washington D.C. and earned a law degree from Northwestern University after moving to Chicago in 1957. Reinsdorf and his wife, Martyl, have four children and seven grandchildren.

EDDIE EINHORN
Vice Chairman

Eddie Einhorn begins his 12th year as vice chairman of the White Sox, continuing his involvement with chairman Jerry Reinsdorf while also devoting time to his sports and television interests. Prior to becoming vice chairman, Einhorn was the club's president and chief operating officer for 10 years.

Einhorn has been a member of Major League Baseball's Schedule Format Committee, the Professional Baseball Association Committee, Player Development Committee and was a member of the Television Committee from 1992-95. He was one of the key architects of The Baseball Network, Major League Baseball's joint broadcasting venture. Einhorn's Cooperstown Baseball World, a sports camp complex for kids in Oneonta, N.Y., begins its third summer in 2002.

Recognized as the architect of baseball's first billion dollar-plus television contract, Einhorn was instrumental in negotiating Major League Baseball's 1990 deal with CBS-TV and ESPN.

In 1989, Einhorn was appointed television consultant to the United States Olympic Committee and was responsible for a 200-hour Olympic television package that debuted in 1990. He is currently television consultant for the United States Figure Skating Association and the International Skating Union, the governing bodies for figure skating throughout the world. In that capacity, he helped engineer the first amateur/professional sanctioned skating competitions. Einhorn also serves on the board of directors of the Chicago Bulls.

Prior to joining law school classmate Jerry Reinsdorf in 1981 to head the limited partnership that purchased the White Sox, Einhorn was the executive producer of the "CBS Sports Spectacular." At CBS, he was responsible for over 200 hours of programming per year and won an Emmy Award for "The Gossamer Albatross, Flight of Imagination" in 1980. Einhorn was the founder and chairman of TVS Television Network, the leading syndicator of sports programming in the 1970s, which helped give rise to the popularity of college basketball on television.

Einhorn was born on January 3, 1936 in Paterson, N.J. and holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Pennsylvania. He is a graduate of the Northwestern University School of Law. Einhorn and his wife, Ann, have two children: Jennifer, who is senior coordinator of special events for Major League Baseball, and Jeff, who lives in Los Angeles and works in the entertainment industry.

HOWARD PIZER
Executive Vice President

Howard Pizer has primary responsibility for White Sox business and administrative operations, as well as the club's legal matters. The longtime business associate of Jerry Reinsdorf joined the White Sox in 1981 to handle the club's transition from former owner Bill Veeck to the Reinsdorf-Einhorn group.

Prior to its opening on April 18, 1991, Pizer's primary focus was on the necessary steps to create the new Comiskey Park. He utilized this experience in connection with the development and operation of the United Center, the state-of-the-art facility which opened for the 1994-95 Chicago Bulls and Chicago Blackhawks seasons.

In addition to setting organization-wide administrative policies and procedures, Pizer established uniformity in corporate-wide computerization and was instrumental in initiating an employee relations program. He also is responsible for the overall relationship between Illinois Sportservice, the White Sox concessionaire, and Levy Restaurants in conjunction with the operation of The Stadium Club and Diamond Suites. Beginning in 1999, Pizer has spearheaded the club's ongoing efforts to maximize the ballpark experience for fans attending a White Sox game at Comiskey Park.

Pizer lends his organizational ability to the board of directors of Chicago Baseball Cancer Charities; Special Children's Charities, the fundraising arm of Chicago Special Olympics; and Near West Side Development Corp., which is working to spur affordable housing and economic development on Chicago's near west side. Pizer also serves as vice president and secretary for Chicago White Sox Charities.

Born on October 23, 1941, in Chicago, Ill., Pizer is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. He is also a magna cum laude graduate of the Northwestern University School of Law. Pizer and his wife, Sheila, have two children: Jacqueline and Rachel; and three grandchildren.

KEN WILLIAMS
Senior Vice President/General Manager

Ken Williams begins his second season as the club's general manager. Williams became the 11th general manager in Chicago White Sox history on October 24, 2000, replacing Ron Schueler, who had been the longest-tenured general manager in the American League. At age 37 (turns 38 on April 6), Williams is the second-youngest general manager in baseball behind 34-year-old Brian Cashman of the Yankees.

In his position, Williams is responsible for all baseball operations decisions, including major-league and minor-league personnel and scouting. He is the first African-American general manager in Chicago sports history and the third in major-league history, following Bill Lucas (Atlanta, 1979) and Bob Watson (Houston, 1994-95/Yankees, 1996-97). Williams and Jerry Manuel form the first African-American general manager/manager tandem in major-league history. Manuel's contract was extended through 2004 (with an option for 2005) during spring training 2001.

Since becoming general manager, Williams has made several key moves impacting the major-league roster. Williams has acquired Royce Clayton, Gary Glover, Antonio Osuna, Todd Ritchie and David Wells via trade, has signed Sandy Alomar Jr., Jose Canseco, Kenny Lofton and Jose Valentin as free agents, and also has signed current Sox Keith Foulke, Tony Graffanino, Bob Howry, Paul Konerko, Carlos Lee and Magglio Ordonez to long-term contracts.

Williams served as the club's vice president of player development for four seasons (1997-2000.) Under his direction, the White Sox were named 2000 Organization of the Year by Baseball America,

USA Today and Howe SportsData. Seven products of the Sox farm system, including six pitchers, made their major-league debuts in 2000 as the White Sox posted the best record in the American League at 95-67.

In 1999, the Sox farm system again contributed heavily to the major-league club as 13 Sox players made their debuts during the season (11 debuted in 1998). The Sox used 19 rookies during the season, ending the campaign with seven first-year players from the farm system (13 in 1998). Two White Sox affiliates reached postseason in 1999, with Class AAA Charlotte winning the International League title before losing in the Triple-A World Series in five games to Vancouver, and Class A Burlington captured the Midwest League crown. Advanced Rookie Bristol won the Appalachian League title in 1998.

Williams has spent 15 seasons with the White Sox in a variety of capacities, including player, scout and special assistant to the chairman. Williams served as the director of minor league operations/special assistant to the chairman from November 1995 until becoming vice president of player development in 1997. After his playing career ended, he joined the club in November 1992 as a scout, specializing in the inner cities and was named special assistant to White Sox chairman Jerry Reinsdorf in 1994. As special assistant to the chairman, Williams was involved in the overall operation of the entire White Sox organization. He also worked at SportsChannel in 1995 as a studio analyst on White Sox telecasts.

Williams is active in the organization's outreach programs within the community. He has played a crucial part in the White Sox introducing the Direct Instruction program to the Chicago Public Schools system and takes an active role in the club's community relations initiatives.

A former outfielder with the White Sox (1986-88), Detroit (1989-90), Toronto (1990-91) and Montreal (1991), Williams appeared in 451 career major-league games. Williams was a lifetime .218 hitter (252-1,157) with 27 home runs and 119 RBI. His best season came as a rookie in 1987, when he hit .281 with 11 home runs and 50 RBI for the White Sox. Williams originally was selected by the Sox in the third round of the June 1982 free agent draft.

Born on April 6, 1964 in Berkeley, Calif., Williams attended Stanford University, where he played football. Williams and his wife, Jessica, have five children: Temeka, Dedrick, Ken Jr., Kyle and Tyler. The family resides in Plainfield, Ill.

ROB GALLAS
Senior Vice President, Marketing and Broadcasting

Rob Gallas begins his 13th season with the White Sox after joining the club in September 1989. Gallas and the Sox marketing department have consistently focused on promoting fan-oriented programs that create an enhanced baseball experience for Sox fans throughout the ballpark. In 2002, the club's integrated marketing focus continues to be on kids, families and fun at the ballpark.

Gallas directed the club's marketing efforts as the Sox closed old Comiskey Park in 1990, opened new Comiskey Park in 1991 and enjoyed one of the best attendance decades in franchise history as the team drew nearly 20 million fans to Comiskey Park in the 1990s (19,777,566 for an average of 1,977,757 fans per season). Eight of the club's top 10 season attendance marks have come since 1990, including last year when the White Sox drew more than 1.76 million fans, the ninth-highest total in franchise history. The team's eight sellouts in 2000 were the most in club history.

Sox marketing efforts have introduced fan-focused and fun events like Kids Sundays, Family Mondays with half price admission, "Dog Day," "Elvis Night" and FUNdamentals, the in-park baseball skills area just for kids.

Gallas also is responsible for the club's relationship with its broadcast partners, WGN-TV, FOX Sports Net, WCIU-TV and ESPN Radio 1000. Gallas oversees the club's advertising campaigns which over the years have included celebrity spots, Bo Jackson's "Hip Season Ticket Plan," spoofs on names featuring the club's players, a summer action thriller movie trailer and the highly regarded "The Kids Can Play" campaigns. This year's theme features a "Come Ready to Play" tagline that combines the team's on-field approach with the fun options available to Sox fans at the ballpark.

The White Sox logo and uniforms, unveiled at the end of the 1990 season, consistently have kept the Sox near the top of Major League Baseball in merchandise sales. At the same time, a strong effort is being made to help fans interact with the team's players through events like SoxFest, the weekend baseball celebration held at the end of January, Kids Sundays, with autograph sessions for kids, and White Sox Day at the annual Taste of Chicago.

As president of Chicago White Sox Charities, Gallas heads the club's efforts to "give back" to the Chicagoland community through Chicago White Sox Charities and Sox community relations efforts. He also is a board member for Chicago Youth Centers, Chicago Baseball Cancer Charities and the Chicago Museum of Broadcast Communications.

Gallas began his career as a news and sportswriter with newspapers in the Midwest, including a stint from 1976 to 1983 as the White Sox beat writer for the Chicago suburban Daily Herald newspaper chain. He received the Jacob Scher award for investigative reporting in 1975 and in 1980 captured UPI's Illinois Newspapers Best Sportswriting Award. Before joining the White Sox, he held the position of group manager of marketing communications and services for a division of Baxter Healthcare Corporation.

Gallas was born in Chicago, Ill. on January 4, 1951. A 1973 graduate of the University of Evansville (Indiana), Gallas and his wife, Sharon, have two children: Christopher and Jennifer, and one grandchild: Elaine Grace. The Gallas family resides in Palatine, Ill.

JACK GOULD
Senior Vice President, Baseball

Jack Gould joined the White Sox as an investor in 1975 during Bill Veeck's second tenure with the club. He assumed his current role as senior vice president of baseball in 1981 with the Reinsdorf ownership group. Gould is one of three Veeck-era members of the Sox board of directors remaining on the board.

As a bomber pilot for the U.S. Army Air Force during World War II, Gould flew on 35 combat missions in Europe and received several decorations, including the distinguished Flying Cross. Lt. RON SCHUELER
Senior Vice President/Special Consultant to the Chairman

Former White Sox General Manager Ron Schueler begins his second season in his role as senior vice president/special consultant to chairman Jerry Reinsdorf. After 10 seasons as the White Sox senior vice president of major league operations, Schueler announced his decision to step away from running the club's day-to-day operations on October 24, 2000, to begin his current role. He also advises general manager Ken Williams and evaluates amateur and professional talent as a scout for the club.

Schueler had been the longest-tenured general manager in the American League when he stepped down, leading the White Sox to an 817-734 (.527) mark during his 10 seasons, the fourth-best record in the major leagues over that span (behind only Atlanta, the New York Yankees and Cleveland). The Sox finished first or second in their division in eight of his 10 seasons, capturing division titles in 1993 and 2000. The 2000 White Sox went 95-67 to win the AL Central.

Schueler named Jerry Manuel the club's 36th manager on December 4, 1997. Manuel, who was named American League Manager of the Year in 2000, became the first African-American hired to lead a Chicago pro sports franchise (Larry Doby was an interim manager for the Sox in 1978).

The 53-year-old Schueler brings 22 years of off-the-field baseball experience and an additional 13 years of playing service to the White Sox. In the four years prior to joining the Sox, Schueler served as special assistant to Oakland's Sandy Alderson, where he was responsible for evaluating both professional and amateur baseball talent. With the White Sox, Schueler played two very different roles as general manager. In the early 1990s, his focus was on finding complementary players to sustain the team's success. Later in the decade, he helped develop an organization from the inside out with a deep pool of young talent. The White Sox were named "Organization of the Year" by Baseball America in 2000 and featured the "Player of the Year" in pitcher Jon Rauch.

During his tenure, Schueler was responsible for acquiring veterans Jim Abbott (1995), Harold Baines (1996-97, '00), Albert Belle (1997), Ellis Burks (1993), Mike Devereaux (1995), Doug Drabek (1997), Cal Eldred (2000-01), Julio Franco (1994), Charlie Hough (1991-92), Bo Jackson (1991-93), Darrin Jackson (1994, 1999), Cal Eldred (2000), Darren Lewis (1996-97), Dave Martinez (1995-97), Kirk McCaskill (1992-96), Tony Phillips (1996-97), Tim Raines (1991-95), Kevin Tapani (1996) Danny Tartabull (1996) and Jose Valentin (2000-01).

As a pitcher, Schueler compiled a 40-48 record over eight major-league seasons with Atlanta (1972-73), Philadelphia (1974-76), Minnesota (1977) and the White Sox (1978-79). The 6-4 right-hander originally was selected by Atlanta in the third round (secondary phase) of the January 1967 free agent draft.

His playing career ended in June 1979 when he was hired by Sox manager Don Kessinger as the club's pitching coach. Schueler served in that capacity until 1981 before joining Oakland as pitching coach from 1982-84. He held the same duties for the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1986 before joining the A's front office, where he received a World Series ring with Oakland in 1989.

Schueler was born on April 18, 1948, in Hays, Kan. A graduate of Hays High School where he played baseball and basketball, he attended Fort Hays State College prior to being drafted. Schueler, who is married to Linda Schubert, has two daughters: Kacey and Carey, and two step daughters: Jennifer and Christina.

Buzard has overseen a ticket office customer service campaign, the development of a human resources department with the White Sox and is responsible for the organization's integrated approach to communications. One of the most respected and experienced executives in baseball, Roland Hemond rejoined the Chicago White Sox as executive advisor to General Manager Ken Williams on November 30, 2000.

Hemond, a three-time winner of Major League Baseball's Executive of the Year award, brings over 50 years of professional baseball experience to his position, including 24 seasons as a general manager with the White Sox (1970-85) and Baltimore Orioles (1988-95) and five seasons as a senior executive vice president with the Arizona Diamondbacks (1996-2000).

Hemond advises and assists Williams and represents the White Sox in a number of ways. Not only a valuable asset in the daily operation of the baseball department, he is a nationally recognized ambassador of the game and a highly sought after speaker. Hemond's professionalism, friendliness and willingness to contribute ideas and advice are attributes unmatched in the industry.

During his first stint with the White Sox, Hemond was named executive of the year in 1972 and 1983. The 1972 Sox, featuring Hemond acquisition Dick Allen and manager Chuck Tanner, went 87-67 for the franchise's first winning record in five seasons. The 1983 club went 99-83 and won the American League West Division title by 20.0 games, then a record for largest winning margin.

While with Baltimore in 1989, Hemond was tabbed executive of the year for the third time after the Orioles improved 32.5 games from the previous season. The 1992 Orioles made a 22.0-game improvement in the standings. Hemond left Baltimore following the 1995 campaign to work with the expansion Diamondbacks.

During his stints with the White Sox and Orioles, Hemond negotiated 135 trades involving 428 players.

Hemond was honored by Minor League Baseball for his longtime dedication and service to the game as the 2001 "King of Baseball." Hemond's baseball career began in 1951 as a front office member of the Eastern League's Hartford Chiefs. He also worked with the Boston/Milwaukee Braves from 1952-60 before being hired as scouting and farm director of the Los Angeles Angels in 1961.

Hemond remained in that capacity until joining the Sox in 1970. At the same time, the White Sox hired Tanner, who had served as manager of the Angels Class AAA team in Hawaii while Hemond was with California. The Hemond/Tanner tandem proved potent, as the Sox finished third and second in their first two seasons with the Sox. While with the Sox, Hemond worked for three different ownership groups, John Allyn, Bill Veeck and Jerry Reinsdorf. Hemond left the Sox in 1985 and spent two years working for the Commissioner's office in New York before joining the Orioles.

Durham Nears Rare Level

With 97 career home runs and 199 stolen bases, Ray Durham is in position to become the first second baseman in White Sox history to reach 100 in each of those categories. Over the last six seasons, Durham has averaged 15 home runs and 30 stolen bases. He is the only player in franchise history to record 30 steals and 100 runs scored in three consecutive seasons (1997-99) and is one of two players to score 100-plus runs in five straight seasons (Frank Thomas, 1991-98). In addition, Durham is just the second Sox second baseman to be selected to the All-Star Team multiple times (1998 and 2000, joining Fox, who was a 12-time All-Star in 1951-61, '63).

Road Warriors

With a 49-32 record, the White Sox were the best road team in baseball in 2000. The 49 wins tied the 1993 and 1954 Sox for the most in franchise history, while the .605 winning percentage tied the 1993 Sox for fifth in club history. The White Sox went 7-0 on a trip to Cleveland (3-0) and New York (4-0) from June 12-18, the fourth undefeated trip in franchise history (minimum six games). Chicago's 12-game road winning streak from June 4-July 3 was the longest in baseball since Detroit tied a major-league record by winning 17 straight to open the 1984 season. Included in the Sox streak were 10 straight road wins against teams who were .500 or better at the time of the game, making the Sox the only team since 1900 to accomplish that feat (source: Elias Sports Bureau).

Jose Valentin became the fifth player in White Sox history to hit for the cycle when he accomplished the feat on April 27, 2000 vs. Baltimore. Valentin singled in the first inning, doubled in the second, tripled in the third and homered in the eighth to become the second Sox player in two years to hit for the cycle. Ray Schalk (June 22, 1922 at Detroit) was the first Sox player to accomplish the feat, followed by Jack Brohamer on September 24, 1977 at Seattle, Carlton Fisk on May 16, 1984 vs. Kansas City and Chris Singleton on July 6, 1999 vs. Kansas City. One month later, on May 27 vs. Cleveland, Valentin fell a single short of becoming the second player in major-league history (Brooklyn's Babe Herman in 1931) to hit for two cycles in one season.

six straight plate appearances from 6/23-24 ... hit fifth career grand slam and first with the Sox on 6/18 at New York off Orlando Hernandez ... led off on 5/22 at Toronto, going 1-3 ... hit first Sox home run on 4/24 vs. Baltimore ... committed four errors on 4/8 at Oakland ... went 2-4 with a run scored in his Sox debut on 4/3 at Texas ... reached base safely in 11 straight games to begin the season ... played center field in the Puerto Rican Winter League.

Comeback

After falling a season-high 15 games below .500 (14-29) on May 23, 2001, the White Sox won 22 of their next 29 games to even their record at 36-36. According to the Elias Sports Bureau, the Sox became the first team since the 1991 Milwaukee Brewers to reach .500 after being 15 games under at any point in the season. Chicago went 42-35 in the second half, tied with Cleveland for the fourth-best record in the AL.

O-E-O Magglio

Outfielder Magglio Ordonez in 2001 became the first American League player in history to record a season with a .300 average, 30 home runs, 100 RBI, 40 doubles and 25 stolen bases. Ordonez became just the seventh player in major-league history to accomplish the feat, joining Vladimir Guerrero (2001), Chipper Jones (1999), Barry Bonds (1998), Larry Walker (1997), Ellis Burks (1996) and Willie Mays (1959). Ordonez topped 100 RBI for the third straight year, joining Frank Thomas (1991-98) as the only players in club history to accomplish the feat three straight seasons.

From The Training Room

The White Sox were struck hard by injuries in 2001. By early June, the team had lost pitchers Lorenzo Barcelo, Cal Eldred, Antonio Osuna, Jim Parque and Bill Simas and designated hitter/first baseman Frank Thomas for the season. That list later grew when pitchers David Wells and Kelly Wunsch were both also lost for the season. Designated hitter Harold Baines was out from June 14-September 4, catchers Sandy Alomar did not play after August 8, and pitcher Rocky Biddle went onto the disabled list in late September. Simas (2000 offseason), Osuna, Parque, Thomas, Barcelo, Wells, Wunsch, Alomar (twice) and Biddle all underwent surgery. The injury woes reversed a decade-long trend for the White Sox, who from 1991-2000 used the disabled list an average of 359 days per season, second-fewest in baseball behind Minnesota (330 days). The 2001 Sox missed 1,197 games due to injury, using the disabled list 14 times.

Durham's Opening Day Streak

Ray Durham has made seven consecutive Opening Day starts at second base (1995-2001), the second-longest streak at that position in White Sox history behind Nellie Fox, who made 13 straight starts between 1951-63. Since 1951, only Fox, shortstop Ozzie Guillen (13 from 1985-97) and catcher Sherm Lollar (nine from 1954-62) have made more consecutive Opening Day starts than Durham at the same position. Frank Thomas has made 11 straight Opening Day starts, nine at first base (1991-97, 1999-2000) and two as the designated hitter (1998, 2001).

Hall Of Famer Nellie Fox

In 1958, Nellie Fox struck out just 11 times in 623 at-bats (one every 56.6 at-bats), the best single-season strikeout ratio in club history. Fox holds the major-league record for most seasons leading the league in fewest strikeouts (11, 1952-62). Fox, who in 1959 became the first Sox player to win the American League Most Valuable Player Award, also holds the club mark for most consecutive games played (798). He was inducted into the Hall of Fame in 1997.

Team Of The Century

Two-time MVP Frank Thomas led all voting as the White Sox announced the franchise's 27-player "Team of the Century" on September 30, 2000, commemorating 100 years of White Sox baseball. Thomas, who received 10,822 votes, was followed by Joe Jackson (9,293), Luke Appling (9,234), Carlton Fisk (8,866) and Nellie Fox (8,727). Al Lopez, who went 840-650 (.562) in 11 seasons as Sox manager from 1957-65 and '68-69, was selected as the All-Century Manager.

Ten of the 27 players are Hall of Famers, including the recently inducted Fisk, and six played during the Go-Go Sox era of the 1950s. Thomas is the only Team of the Century members still active with the Sox. More than 200,000 votes were cast on 18,500 in-stadium and online ballots during the month-long voting.

Minnie Minoso

Orestes "Minnie" Minoso played 12 seasons with the White Sox covering five separate stints and four decades, batting .298 (1,963-6,579) with 186 home runs and 1,023 RBI from 1951-57, '60-61, '64, '76 and '80. Minoso became the first African-American player in franchise history when he made his major-league debut on May 1, 1951 vs. the Yankees, homering off Vic Raschi in his first at-bat. A six-time All-Star with the Sox, he ranks among the career franchise leaders in virtually every offensive category. Minoso's uniform No. 9 was retired by the Sox in 1983, and he still works with the club as a community relations representative.

Triple Plays

The last triple play turned by the White Sox came on June 6, 1996 at Boston's Fenway Park. With Joe Magrane pitching, Mo Vaughn and Jose Canseco both walked. Tim Naehring grounded to White Sox third baseman Robin Ventura, who stepped on third base to force out Vaughn. Ventura threw to second base where Ray Durham forced out Canseco, and Durham's relay throw to first baseman Frank Thomas beat Naehring.

White Sox Dominican Academy

The Chicago White Sox Dominican Academy is located in Moca, Dominican Republic in the Cibao region near Santiago. Since the academy opened in December 1998, the White Sox have signed 35 players from the Dominican. Denny Gonzalez, a former major-league infielder with the Pittsburgh Pirates, scouts and runs the academy. Gonzalez is assisted by 20 full-time staff members who handle the accounting, groundskeeping, cooking, equipment as well as general upkeep of the complex. In addition to running camps throughout the year, the White Sox field a team in the Dominican Summer League.

BROADCASTING

Broadcast Information

The Ken "Hawk" Harrelson and Darrin Jackson tandem begins its third season together in 2002, televising 153 regular-season White Sox games on FOX Sports Net (99 games), WGN-TV (29 contests) and WCIU-TV (another 25 games, all produced by WGN). In addition to local television coverage, seven White Sox games will be shown as part of FOX's Saturday "Game of the Week" and others may be selected by FOX and ESPN after the All-Star Break (dates and times to be announced).

All 162 White Sox games will be televised in 2002 with two (June 14 and June 16) appearing locally only as Cubs broadcasts on WGN-TV and FOX Sports Net. Sixty-two of the telecasts are over-the-air, while the other 100 are available through cable systems.

Flagship radio station ESPN Radio 1000, featuring John Rooney on play-by-play and Ed Farmer as color commentator, will broadcast all 162 White Sox games for the seventh consecutive season in 2002.

WGN-TV will televise Opening Day, Monday, April 1, in Seattle at 4:05 p.m. (CT), while FOX Sports Net televises the Comiskey Park home opener on Friday, April 12 vs. Baltimore at 1:05 p.m.

Nine of the 99 Sox games televised by FSN will be carried on FOX Sports Net Plus (except in the Chicago ADI where the games will appear on CLTV) due to conflicts with telecasts of the Chicago Bulls, Chicago Blackhawks or Chicago Cubs. The nine games are: April 5 at Kansas City, April 8 at Detroit, April 24 at Cleveland, May 15 vs. Texas, June 5 vs. Kansas City, June 7 vs. Montreal, July 17 at Kansas City, August 21 vs. Minnesota and September 18 vs. Kansas City.

WCIU-TV will televise the first of its 25 White Sox contests on Tuesday, April 9 at Detroit (6:05 p.m.).

The first game of the crosstown series against the Chicago Cubs at Comiskey Park on June 28 will be televised by FSN (1:05 p.m.). FOX will air the middle game as part of its Saturday national schedule (12:15 p.m.), and WGN-TV will carry the series finale on Sunday, June 30 (1:05 p.m.). When the Sox travel to Wrigley Field on June 14-16, FOX will broadcast the Saturday game nationally, with Friday and Sunday's telecasts being local Cubs broadcasts.

In addition to the Sox/Cubs games on June 15 and June 29, the White Sox also will appear on FOX's National Saturday telecast on June 1 at Cleveland, July 6 vs. Cleveland, August 10 vs. Seattle, September 7 vs. Cleveland and September 14 at New York. FOX and ESPN may pick up additional games after the All-Star Break.

Comiskey Park Renovations

Following a first phase of extensive renovations for 2001, the Chicago White Sox announced four additional Comiskey Park renovation projects scheduled to be completed in time for Opening Day 2002. The renovation plans include a new, multi-tiered batter's eye in center field, a vertical screen behind home plate, improvements to the main concourse and upgrading of the park's club level.

Specifics include:

■ Vertical Screen Behind Home Plate

A vertical screen will be installed in front of the seats behind home plate, replacing the current ball-return screen that runs back to the press box and covers the lower level seats. The new vertical screen will be less of a distraction to fans and will make it easier for fans sitting behind the screen to see the game action.

■ Center Field Batter's Eye

A new multitiered batter's eye in center field. The top section of the batter's eye will be a semi-transparent screen, allowing fans to look out onto the field without affecting the vision of the batter. Plants will be grown on the terraced batter's eye to provide a green hitting background. The new design adds space on the main concourse for additional fan use.

■ Main Concourse Upgrades

The main concourse upgrades will change the wall, ceiling and lighting treatments by including brick and metal in the design. Fronts of concession stands will be upgraded to stainless steel counters with a new canopy design (between foul lines only). Decorative lights will be added along the concourse in keeping with the overall design theme.

■ Club Level Concourse Upgrades

The club level concourse will be completely enclosed, with heat and air conditioning throughout. The finishes will be upgraded to match those found in many in the club areas of the newest sports facilities. Restrooms will be renovated.

Prior to the 2001 season, several modifications were made to Comiskey Park. Those modifications included:

■ Adding multiple rows of seats along the foul lines (beyond each dugout) in front of the existing seating.

■ Relocating the bullpens to allow fans to see pitchers warming up. The White Sox bullpen will be placed beyond and along the fence at the left-field foul pole. The visiting bullpen will be placed beyond and along the fence to the left of The Bullpen Sports Bar.

■ Filling in the areas of the former bullpens with seating.

■ Making the outside portion of The Bullpen Sports Bar into a two-tiered terrace seating area.

■ Extending the outfield seating area down to the fence in many areas.

Conference & Learning Center

In mid November 2001, the Illinois Sports Facilities Authority (ISFA) and the Chicago White Sox announced the Grand Opening of the Conference & Learning Center at Comiskey Park, a state-of-the-art conference center that features the latest in communication and presentation technology.

"This facility is unique and state-of-the-art," said White Sox senior vice president of marketing and broadcasting Rob Gallas. "Not only does it offer the latest in presentation capabilities, but it also enables ISFA and the White Sox to expand our community outreach programs to include thousands of students and tourists who visit Comiskey Park.

"In addition," Gallas said. "The Conference & Learning Center provides a tremendous business opportunity for Chicago's corporations to host meetings, seminars and training sessions just steps away from a Major League Baseball field."

The facility, a joint partnership between ISFA and the White Sox, was designed by Campbell Tiu Campbell, Inc. and built by the joint venture of Walsh/Riteway. Audio/visual consultation and implementation was handled by Swiderski Electronics Inc.

The Conference & Learning Center offers users full-service catering by Levy Restaurants, a fully-equipped business center and on-site parking. It is available year-round for half- and full-day rentals. In addition to Chicago Public School programs, the center will be available for use by local non-profit organizations, businesses and community groups. Non-profit, civic and municipal organizations can use the Conference & Learning Center for reduced or no cost.

"Beyond the entertainment provided by baseball's on-the-field activities, this facility allows ISFA and the Chicago White Sox to offer students unique educational opportunities that will allow them to benefit from the experience and knowledge of the organization, its staff and its supporters," said Alexander R. Lerner, chairman of Illinois Sports Facilities Authority.

The Conference & Learning Center features a large amphitheater-style auditorium with a seating capacity of 160, a meeting room that seats 60 and two board rooms for groups of 8 to 12. The large auditorium features individual consoles at each seat, providing direct audio and data connections, an advanced overhead document display system and computer signal inputs for projection or plasma display. The larger auditorium will serve as the postgame media interview room and provide a space for large press conferences.
